

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY POLICIES

The rights of an individual in regard to his or her own oral presentations, visual productions, computer programs, graphics, etc., must be honored. Aside from PCOM requirements regarding the use of lecture capture programs for recording, use of personal video cameras or recording devices are not permitted in any classroom or lab without the expressed written consent of the academic program director and the course instructor.